

Sunlight and water views.

While designed to fit in with the antique architecture in its neighborhood, this cottage was in fact built just a few years ago. A dining area with views of the harbor beyond was designed to feel like a porch that had been enclosed and repurposed over time. The wood in the ceiling detail is cypress and was sourced from recycled beer barrels at a local brewery.

Architect Mark Hutker (principal), Hutker Architects, Falmouth, Mass.; hutkerarchitects.com

Builder Leo De Sorcy, De Sorcy Company, Vineyard Haven, Mass.

Photograph Brian Vanden Brink, brianvandenbrink.com

